Vaccination Policy

South Rhea Animal Hospital highly recommends core and required vaccinations to protect your pet from deadly diseases common in our area. Certain vaccinations are annual and others are every 2-3 years. These vaccinations will be tailored for each pet and their needs. Please discuss with your Veterinarian which of these vaccinations is appropriate for your pet.

I understand vaccine reactions can occur but are rare. The benefits of vaccination outweigh the risks in majority of pets and most reactions are minor such as facial swelling and hives. These reactions should be reported in order to limit reactions in the future. I understand South Rhea Animal Hospital provides only safe and effective vaccinations that are species specific and stored appropriately. I also understand that qualified Veterinarians give appropriate “doses” of vaccines as recommended by the manufacturer.

I consent/ do NOT consent (circle one) to the Veterinarians at South Rhea Animal Hospital to vaccinate my pets and accept the potential risk of a vaccine reaction.

I understand that Rabies vaccination is required by state law for all pets and must be kept current. I also understand that Tennessee State law requires a 1 year rabies booster before starting a 3 year protocol. I will provide Rabies vaccination proof and If I cannot provide proof South Rhea Animal Hospital will require a Rabies vaccination at my pet’s visit unless my pet has an illness, disease, or other special circumstance that would potentially make vaccinating risky. This protects South Rhea Animal Hospital’s employees, myself, and the public from a fatal disease that can be carried by Bats, skunks, foxes, raccoons, and coyotes.
